Franklin & Marshall College (2013 to Present)

Dr. Troxell performed with the Franklin & Marshall College Symphonic Wind Ensemble on the occasion of the ensemble’s 75th anniversary. Dr. Troxell assisted the ensemble as they performed the works of Ogren, Carbon, Kozhevnikov, Holst, De Meij, and the most difficult work of Husa. Dr. Troxell continues to perform each semester with the ensemble, demonstrating the role of the professional musician in ensemble.

Immaculata College (2015)

Dr. Troxell presented a lecture on the role and function of the professional school counselor in the Ed. D. Educational Leadership Program at Immaculata College

Lancaster Bible College (2016)

Dr. Troxell presented a professional in-service program entitled “Data Analysis & Disaggregation for School Counselors,” for local school counselors.

Dr. Troxell retired from 34 years of professional services in PA public schools, where he served as teacher, counselor, and building and district level administrator. In his last public-school position, he served as the district supervisor of counseling services for the Hempfield School District. Currently, he serves as a full-time professor in the M.Ed. program in Counseling & Social Work and Worship and Performing Arts departments at Lancaster Bible College. He has taught courses in career education, elementary and secondary counseling systems, human developmental issues, research and statistics for the social sciences, research design for school counselors, group counseling techniques, theories of personality, introduction to school counseling, formational orientation to counseling & psychology, counselor practicum/internship, and educational leadership. In the LBC WPA department, he has taught course work in clarinet performance, and instrumental teaching methods. He conducted the college wind quintet and served as principal clarinetist with the LBC college and community orchestra, and saxophonist with the LBC Jazz Ensemble. He performs as a pit musician with the musical productions at LBC. Further, Dr. Troxell performed with the Flute Ensemble and Clarinet Choir at Westminster Presbyterian Church, Lancaster, PA., where he and his wife currently attend. He offered the solo prelude on Sunday, Nov. 25, 2012, featuring a first performance of a new work for solo soprano saxophone and piano, arranged by Dr. Dan Foster. Dr. Troxell previously served at St. Stevens Presbyterian Church in New Holland, PA, performing regularly, and collaborating with Dr. Stuart Sacks, arranger, and composer, and Doug Wimer, in the performance of music and original works and arrangements for the worship service. Dr. Troxell continues to perform with the Allegro Orchestra of Lancaster, under the direction of Dr. Brian Norcross.

In addition, Dr. Troxell served as an educational consultant and trainer for the Education Trust, Washington, DC, and was actively involved in the training of professional school counselors in PA. In addition, Dr. Troxell has served as a consultant with the Pennsylvania Department of Education, working with the development of professional school counseling assessment rubrics.

Recently, he served on the board of the Pennsylvania Association of Pupil Service Administrators (PAPSA) for two terms and served as an active speaker on the topic of data analysis and disaggregation in schools, the supervision of pupil services in schools, the evaluation of professional school counseling programs, and the utilization of Group Counseling Skills in Schools. Dr. Troxell was recently chosen to assist the Pennsylvania Department of Education in the design and development of evaluative criteria for the evaluation of Pennsylvania professional school counselors. He will present this topic at the 2013 PAPSA Conference in Lancaster, PA. Most recently, Dr. Troxell volunteered his services to a new organization of professional educators in master's programs for professional school counseling in PA (PA Professional School Counselor Educator Consortium (PAPSCEC)).
