Professional Interests

Dr. Backues's interests and experience are in grassroots liberative empowerment methodologies, social justice, cultural exploration, organizational analysis and change, and community development, especially in respect to practical, implemented operations and community involvement. The primary organizational change paradigm/strategic analysis tool he utilizes for analysis is the Burke-Litwin Performance and Change Model. Backues's current focus is on ESG impact investing, where 'thick' notions of environmental, social, and governance factors are central to authentic risk assessment and responsible investment decisions. Backues has been a university professor/academic for last 15 years.
